

Election Day 2008 in Haiku

Phone rings, "Vote for me." Doorbell chimes, "Are you with me?" Tuesday. Peace at last!	I walk to the poll Thinking on those who've struggled For our right to vote.	He says she says what? Voting soon I stand in line Choice made already
Sm'ling officials Offer the paper to sign Yes, this is my name	Polite politics Enter the game near the end Now they talk nicer!	If I were to run For USA president I'd change a few things
Who will win this race? My state doesn't surprise me Waiting watching yes!	Cascading leaf hues, Trail paths beckon as leaves fall. Foot surgery sucks!	Wow... How must it feel To get up in the morning And vote for yourself...
Ballots have been cast School is not open today Finally a change	Obama is smart Michelle seems very patient Their girls want a dog	The White House is ours What colors should we paint it? Perhaps red, green, black
McCain is not strong The war is ongoing- still Change is on the way	Rosa Parks sat down Leading change, Barack sees hope Inspired - I stand tall.	Rhetoric has stopped Choices – time for history Walk the talk, let's vote!
Long lines - her feet hurt Waiting a life time for change Pain - can't vote for same.	Crying – confused world Must be a senior moment Frighten – Who's Palin?	I can choose either A woman or a black man See how far we've come?
Anxiety, worry Mason Dixon Poll shifting Real fear for U.S.	Voter Suppression Lies and tactics to fool us VOTE! We will be heard	Campaign Hijacking Rich clothes, nice hairdo, she's new. Joe the Plumber - a fraud?
Roll over in bed Can't sleep, say to each other Let's make history!	Last minute phone calls Get out the vote all day long Help democracy	Late night victory Sheer, utter relief and joy Yes, we have high hopes
Red States and Blue States Listen, "God Bless the United States" Vote Barack Obama	My excitement builds Touch the screen to make history Happy tears emerge	<< PRE-RESULTS

Election Day 2008 in Haiku

POST RESULTS > >	Obama is in Doesn't matter who is in You've always stood tall	He is all of us Black and white piano keys Hope for unity
Joyful - Excitement My heart is overflowing Proud American	Obama's my man Wonderfully colorful Our next president!!!	Let's all stick by him Obama still needs our help Let's keep him in pray'r
Tough days are ahead Some will want him to fall short He needs our support	Turmoil, Hate Sadness Obama.... Change is a Foot! Peace, Love, Happiness	Leaves Fall, Birds fly South Polls Close, Obama is Prez Nation Rises... Hope
Change I'm glad to see Proud to be American Patriotic tears.	A new beginning. Coast to coast, his voice was heard, Day is done. He's won!!!	Once, we the people Meant some of us excluded Healed, Civil War ends.
Create synergy Ever know a dream weaver? Before yesterday.	Obama has won Let everyone beware now Pelosi and Reed.	We needed this man A long time in our country Thank god he's here now!
Can you accept change Consider the price for change Will you accept change	One must understand Change is inevitable One should not fear change	US election Candidates spend way too much Send a little here!!
Hubby said, "no gloat" "I'm just completely giddy" He did vote my way.	President Elect Barack Obama, thank God Toot proud from heaven	North Carolina Muffled drums and musket balls Quiet at long last
House still white outside But more colorful within History is made		